Nationals Take Series From the Boston Red Sox

Griffmen Make It Three Wins NO CHANCE FOR Champs, 7 to 4.

SHORE IS BATTED HARD

By WILLIAM PEET.
World's champions and others all ook alike to the Nationals these days -for vesterday the Griffmen sound! trounced the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 4, cleaned up the series three in a row, and maintained a firm grip on first

There was no fiddling around waiting for bases on balls by the home team yesterday. Griff's young men simply waded in and smashed out hits when Red Sox in Boston two weeks ago.
Boehling, although touched up lively and removed in favor of Gallia, pitched a fine game of ball and deserved a shut-out, which he surely would have gained had not Joe Judge dropped a dinky fly ball, with two out in the seventh, and the bases loaded.

No matter what happens today, while the Nationals are idle, there is no chance for New York, should this ciub beat the Athletics, to nose out the local team for irst-place honors.

The schedule shows that the Yanks and Mackmen will stage a game at Shibe Park, the only contest booked for the Judge's Costly Muff.
